Mobility Is Mandatory in a Digital World

In just over a decade ago since the release of the first iPhone, mobile devices have not only changed our everyday lives, they have disrupted the business travel landscape as well. This mobile shift is not going away, and it's not slowing down. Yet even as mobility becomes the norm, many businesses lag behind the times when it comes to offering their employees the mobile tools to do their jobs better. Organizations are under pressure to meet travelers' desires for the same digital tools they use in their personal lives within the workplace.

As you plan your mobile strategy to transform your current expense, invoice, and travel processes and procedures, look for solutions that:

Go beyond automation to enable mobility across your organization.

Transform and greatly improve user experience to increase efficiency, compliance, and spend visibility.

Turn tedious travel and expense management into a process that drives satisfaction and value.

Give Your Organization a Robust Mobile Solution

The best solutions for managing employee-initiated spend aren't found in one-off apps or on-premises software—they're in the cloud. As the most innovative and experienced provider of cloud-based travel and expense management solutions, SAP Concur delivers the functionality, agility, and security to make your digital transition a smooth journey. Think of SAP Concur as a "quick win" to helping you transform old systems and processes into a true digital solution.

When you connect your T&E data as well as other employee-initiated purchases, you'll get a big picture view of all your spending in one place. Taking travel and expense management mobile provides a real advantage.
